

TECHNOVATION

Mentor

Thank you for being a Mentor for the Technovation Girls 2025/2026 season.

You spent the season with a team of builders as they identified a problem in their community, designed a technical solution, built a working prototype, shaped a business around it, and put it in front of the world. That is the full arc of building something real, and you were in the room for all of it.

The thing that makes a strong mentor is the willingness to learn alongside the team, model how to keep going when something breaks, and encourage your builders to own the work. You did that.

You also developed technical experience, leadership skills and the ability to project manage often across physical and technical barriers. These are the areas of growth you take with you, along with the memories you made with your team.

Your hours of mentoring contributed to UN Sustainable Development Goals 4 (Quality Education) and 5 (Gender Equality). Regardless of whether your team submitted or how the competition closed, the work and what you learned doing it counts.

We are honored to be part of your journey, and we hope this is just the beginning.

Thank you.

Tara Chklovski, Technovation Founder & CEO

Building innovators for life